

Last week was a fantastic week welcoming the children back to school.

It was lovely to see how excited and happy the children were being back in class. Next week the children will be reading the book “My Granny Went to Market” which all the learning activities will be based on.

In Maths the children will be learning about the diamond shape and about the number 9. The children will be talking about different countries and shopping at a market and will be writing and drawing lists of what they would buy.

Have a great weekend!
